And the third angel
poured out his vial upon the rivers and
fountains of waters;
and they became blood.
(Revelation 16:4)

The fulfillment of that prophecy has long since been recorded in the history books. The people of God who wanted to worship Him freely and faithfully according to the dictates of a conscience obedient to the Holy Bible fled from despotic conditions in the Old World (especially Europe) to forge a new and free life in the New World where neither popery nor monarchy would be able to oppress them. (That was in the 1500's-1700's when there was still a place to flee to!) The "earth" in the prophecy represents the sparsely populated (dry) New World that "swallowed up" the "peoples, multitudes, nations, and tongues" that flooded onto its shores in the ensuing years, giving rise to the "salad bowl" or "melting pot" that is America.

There are people "flooding" into the borders of the United States again today, but it is no longer the case that the land is swallowing them up. To the contrary, they are being repelled instead of welcomed. Regardless, however, the imagery of people "flooding" into a nation is very graphic, as the people of Europe have also experienced in many locations in the last few years due to the Islamic migration.

If the symbolism of the "flood" of Revelation 12:15 isn't clear enough already, the Bible makes it absolutely unmistakable by connecting the waters that are "peoples, multitudes, nations, and tongues" with the "flood" that followed the woman. It says the waters went after her "as a flood," which means the flood is also the waters—it is one and the same symbol, but expressed in a different form.

The King James Version, however, masks the true significance of the expression "as a flood." The Greek word translated "flood" actually means a "river."

Probably from a derivative of the alternate of G4095 (compare G4224); a current, brook or freshet (as drinkable), that is, running water: - flood, river, stream, water.

Do you see what the Bible is doing here? The flood describes the manner in which the waters behave. The prophecy speaks of the waters (peoples) as a moving (migrating) stream, which is a perfect characterization of human migration and the influx of people (into the New World, in that case).

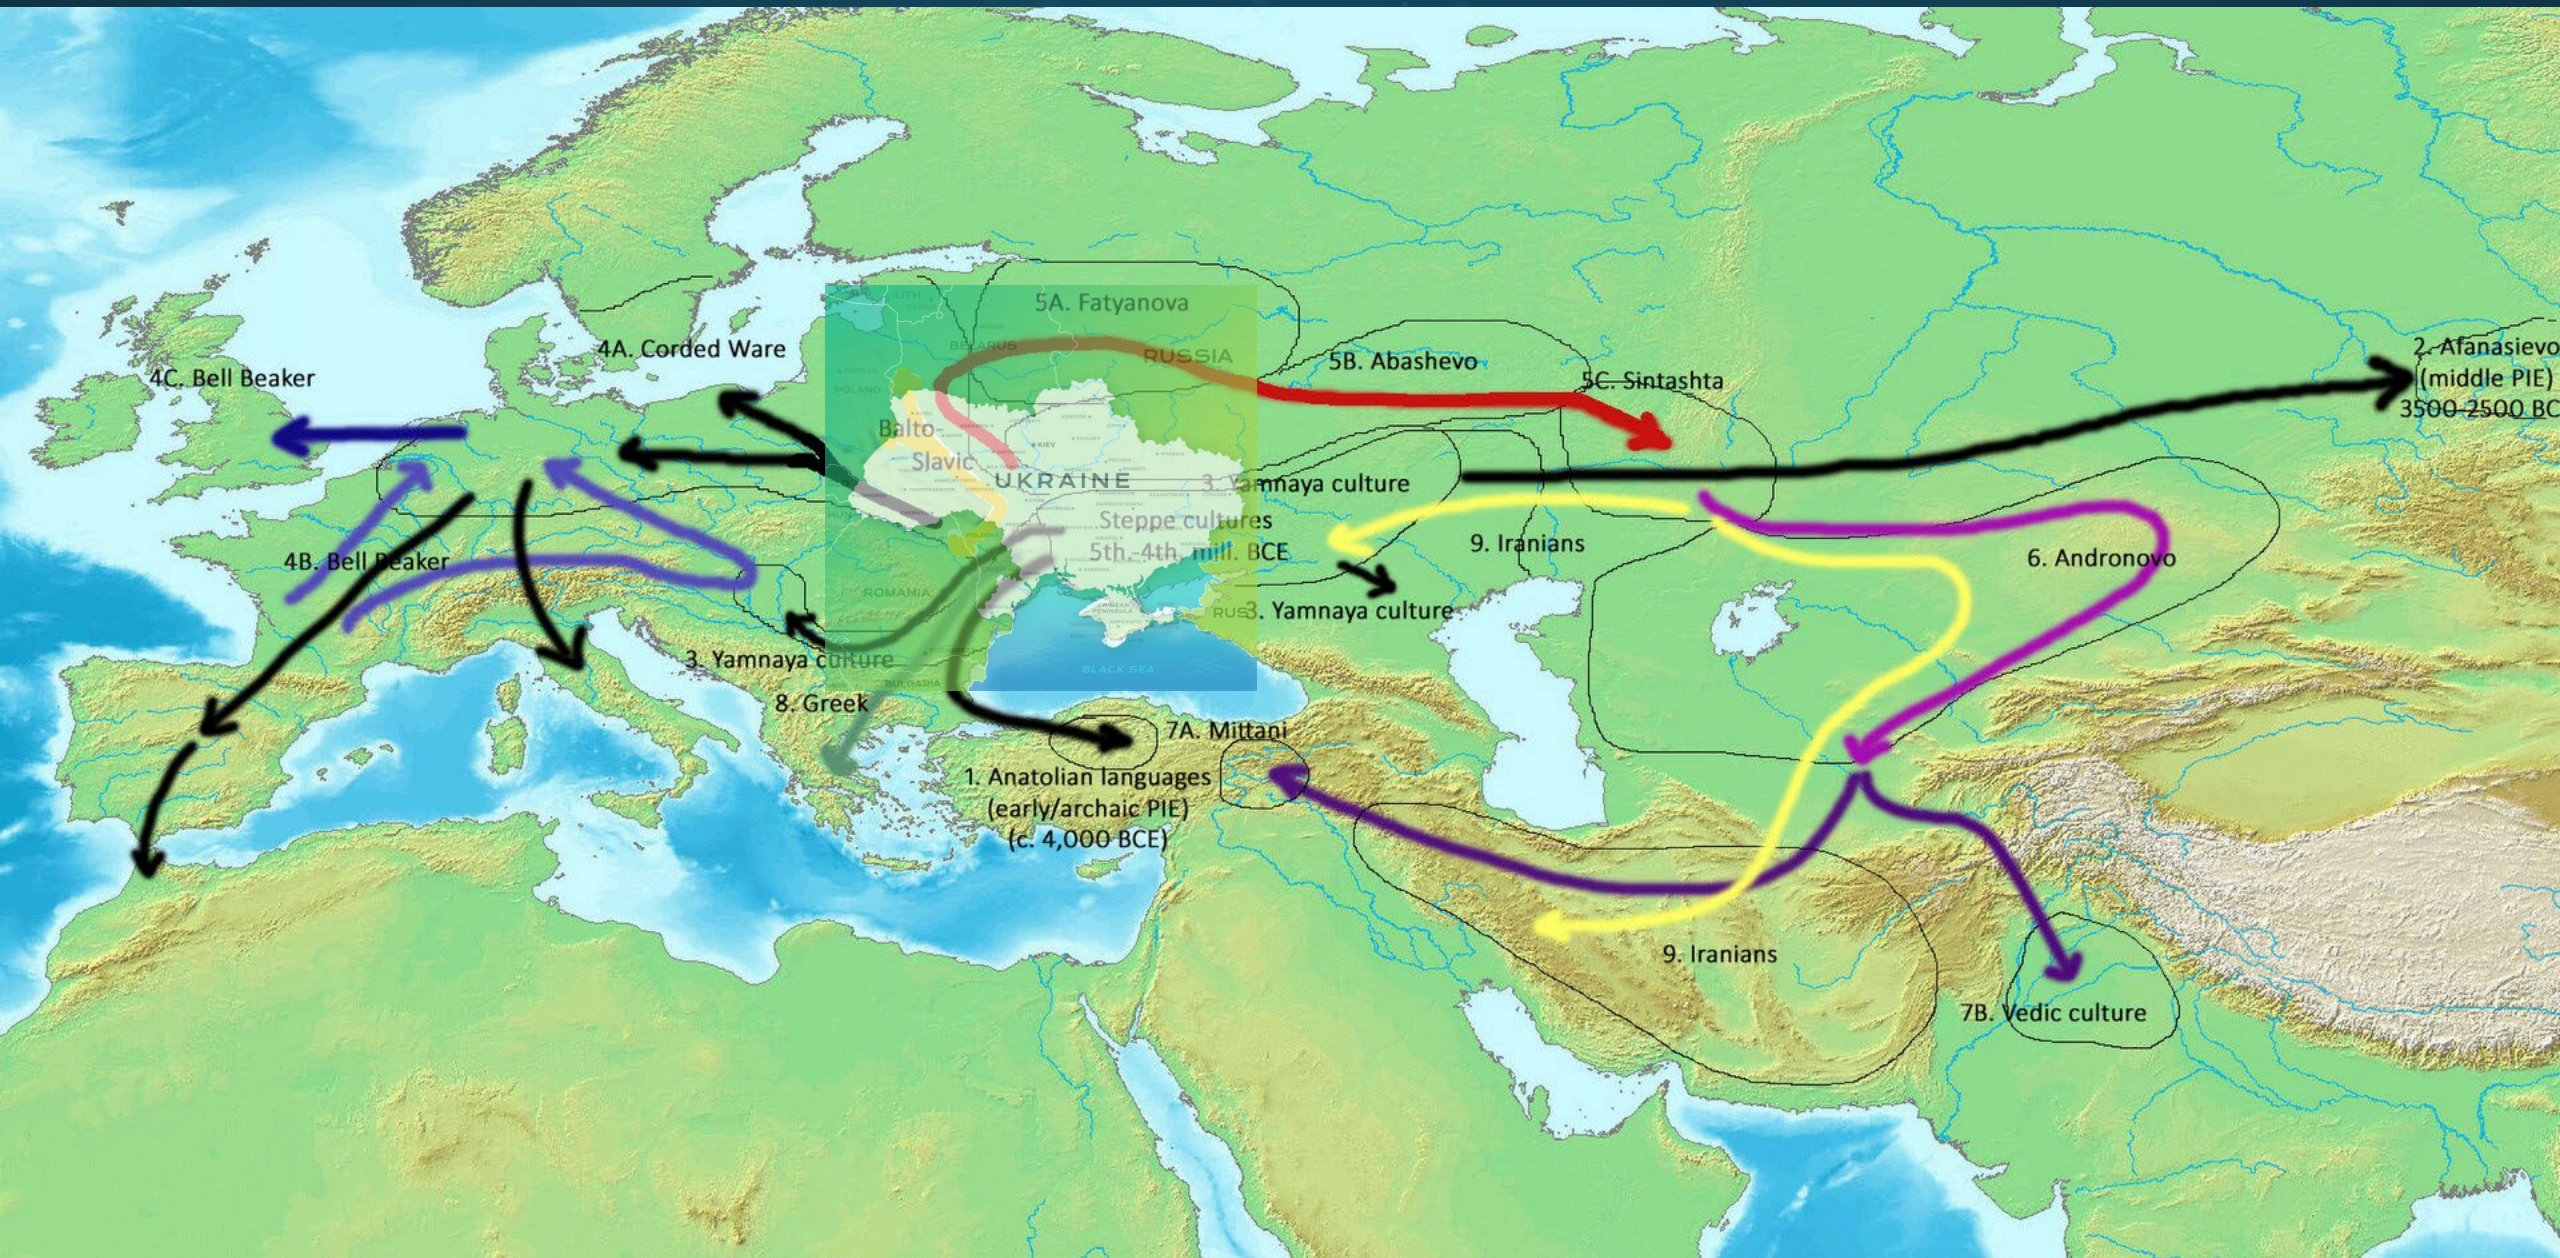

Still, what does the Ukraine crisis have to do with the rest of Europe and the third plague? The third plague Bible text does not speak only of rivers, but also of “fountains of waters.”

Every symbol in the text is important, but now it should be very easy to understand what the fountains of waters (or springs) mean. If flowing water symbolizes the migration of peoples, then the fountains or sources of the waters must refer to the location where these migrating peoples all flowed from. This is where the Ukraine starts to become a very interesting location for the fulfillment of the third plague. Quoting from Wikipedia’s page about Indo-European migrations:

Indo-European migrations were the migrations of pastoral peoples speaking the Proto-Indo-European language (PIE), who departed from the Yamnaya and related cultures in the Pontic–Caspian steppe, starting at c. 4000 BCE. Their descendants spread throughout Europe and parts of Asia, forming new cultures with the people they met on their way, including the Corded Ware culture in Northern Europe and the Vedic culture in the Indian subcontinent. These migrations ultimately seeded the cultures and languages of most of Europe, Greater Iran, and much of the Indian subcontinent (and subsequently resulted in the largest and most broadly spoken language family in the world).

The steppes of the Ukraine around the Black Sea are the very origin of the streams of people that anciently flowed into Europe and populated it. The research is based on cultural factors especially including the languages, which is why the Bible refers to the “tongues” of the peoples, which indicates that the Pontic (Black Sea) area of the Ukraine is the spring (fountain) from which the rivers flowed to populate Europe. Thus, the symbolism of the third plague (being poured out on the fountains of waters) clearly points to the geographical location of the incident that fulfills it —where the Russia-Ukraine conflict was reignited!

(CNN) — Russian President Vladimir Putin arrived in the Vietnamese capital Hanoi on Wednesday, fresh from a rare meeting in North Korea with counterpart Kim Jong Un in which the two leaders agreed a new strategic partnership driven by Moscow's need for weapons for its war in Ukraine.

Considered a pariah by the West, Putin is looking to boost economic ties with friendly countries and show that Western isolation is not having an impact.

Russian President Vladimir Putin and Chinese leader Xi Jinping have hailed their country's "partnership" on the sidelines of the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (CSO), a regional security bloc founded by the duo as a counterpoint to Western might. Speaking on the sidelines of the summit in Astana, Kazakhstan on Wednesday, both Putin and Xi commended the grouping's expanding membership, which includes the Central Asian countries, as well as India, Iran and member-in-waiting Belarus. They also continued to portray the China-Russia relationship as a stabilising force in chaotic times.

Crimean sunbathers struck by deadly shrapnel shower from Ukrainian missile

Russian officials say at least five killed after air systems intercepted projectile above a busy holiday resort

Shrapnel from an intercepted US-made missile fired by Ukraine hit a beach packed with sunbathing tourists in occupied Crimea on Sunday.

Russian air defence

Russia's ministry of defence said its air-defence systems had intercepted one of five US-made ATACMS long-range artillery rockets fired by Ukraine at Crimea. It blamed the US for the attack and said that the intercepted missile had been armed with a cluster munition warhead that exploded over the beach.

“Responsibility for the deliberate missile attack on civilians in Sevastopol lies primarily with Washington, which supplied these weapons to Ukraine, as well as the Kyiv regime,” it said. “Such actions will not go unanswered.”

Russia said the United States had supplied the weapons, while the U.S. military had aimed them and provided data.

Russia's Foreign Ministry summoned U.S. Ambassador Lynne Tracy and told her Washington was "waging a hybrid war against Russia and has actually become a party to the conflict".

"Retaliatory measures will definitely follow," it said.

Orban, who attended this week's NATO summit, has pursued a Russia-friendly foreign policy that has put him out of step with the Biden administration and with other European allies. Inside NATO, he has slowed steps to bolster defenses against Moscow. At the European Union, which handles economic policy, he has watered down Russia sanctions.
